OUTREACH & PUBLIC PROGRAM

FACULTY RESEARCH

The Southwest and Border Cultures Institute (SBCI) was founded at NMSU in November 1998 upon receipt of a Challenge Grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH). The NEH award of $450,000 was matched by $1.35 million in non-federal dollars to create a permanent endowment of $1.8 million dollars. The purpose of the SBCI is to enable acquisitions by the University Library and Museum, fund faculty and graduate student research on Southwestern and US-Mexico Border issues in the humanities, and to fund on- and off-campus public programs that relate to humanities issues in the Southwest and US–Mexico Border region.

The SBCI began funding activities in 2001. The program is administered by an Administrative Council, with representatives from the departments of Anthropology, English, History, Languages, and Linguistics and from the University Museum and University Library. Faculty and students from other departments may apply for SBCI funding as long as their project is a humanities-focused project as determined by the Administrative Council.

For the purposes of SBCI Grant award programs, ‘Humanities’ has the following definition:

What are the Humanities: "The term 'humanities' includes, but is not limited to, the study and interpretation of the following: language, both modern and classical; linguistics; literature; history; jurisprudence; philosophy; archaeology; comparative religion; ethics; the history, criticism and theory of the arts; those aspects of social sciences which have humanistic content and employ humanistic methods; and the study and application of the humanities to the human environment with particular attention to reflecting our diverse heritage, traditions, and history and to the relevance of the humanities to the current conditions of the national life".

--National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities Act, 1965, as amended

SBCI Grant applications will be evaluated based upon the potential of the proposed activity and/or acquisition to provide: significance for the preservation and maintenance of the state's and region's multicultural heritage; significance to an understanding of humanities issues concerning New Mexico and the American Southwest and the US/Mexico border; significant Humanities' awareness to southern New Mexico communities; strengthened Humanities at NMSU.

Grant selection preference will be given to junior faculty, to faculty who have not received funds in one of the last two proposal cycles, and to faculty who have either generated peer reviewed publications or external funds based on previous SBCI based research (such resultant external funding or peer reviewed publications should be identified in the "Need" section of the current proposal). Funding for the successful proposals will nominally begin on July 1 of the award year, and must be spent no later than June 30 of the 2nd year of the award (so, for a July 01, 2022 award start date, award funds must be spent and accounted for no later than June 30, 2024).

ANY PROPOSED EFFORT THAT WOULD INVOLVE HUMAN SUBJECTS MUST SECURE APPROVAL FROM NMSU'S INSTITUTIONAL REVIEW BOARD (IRB) PRIOR TO ANY AWARD FUNDS BEING MADE AVAILABLE AND WORK ON THE PROJECT COMMENCING.
